Introduction

In the current era of globalization, learning is no longer using the approach of Teacher Centre Learning but has led to the Student Centre Learning. It doesn’t mean the role of teachers will reduced in the learning process. Teachers are facilitators who set the course in the classroom by not reducing activity that should be done by the students. However, the teacher's role here is not as a dictator who dictates in teaching. Teachers should be able to create a conducive atmosphere in the classroom. So the selection of teaching media should be based on the characteristics of the students.

In English language learning ideally teachers should use the media in teaching. However, the teachers do not realize the importance of learning media. In the school curriculum, English is taught in integrated skill. Harmer (2007) stated that the instruction in the process of learning English is needed for the students. So the students are expected to be able to communicate well.

Material taught in Junior High School is still something to do with student life. But they are still difficulties due to its limited vocabulary. In addition, the students’ English knowledge is limited, they still find the difficulty in learning English. So the selection of teaching strategies and media must comply with the conditions of the students.

Based on the illustration above, the writers want to provide a solution to learning English with the use of Printed Material Comic Strips as a media to improve Junior High School students’ vocabulary in Kudus through Classroom Action Research because in Printed Material Comic Strips the students will gain a new vocabulary that can improve their English knowledge.
Teaching Media

There are many kinds of opinions about the value and benefits of a variety of teaching media, but basically the same teaching materials that convey the message properly, interesting, creative and structured to students. Sudjana and Rival (2009:2) describe the value and benefits of teaching media into the following:

1. Teaching will attract more attention to foster students' motivation to learn
2. Teaching materials will be clearer meaning that can be understood by the students, and allow students to master better teaching purposes
3. Teaching methods will be more varied, not merely verbal communication through the narrative of words by the teacher, so students do not get bored especially when teachers teach to every hour lessons
4. Students are doing more activities to learn, because not only listen to descriptions of teachers, but also the other activities such as observing, demonstrating, etc.

Due to the benefits derived from the use of teaching media, so the media should always be applied in lesson plans which are the duty of teachers to create learning activities are organized. Teachers do not necessarily choose the teaching media by themselves but there are several criteria that must be considered to determine the appropriate teaching media for particular teaching material.

According Sudjana and Rival (2009:4), there are several things to note about the teaching media. First, teachers need to have an understanding of teaching media for instance types and benefits of teaching media, using the media as a teaching aid and follow-up the use of media in the teaching and learning process. Second, teachers are able to make simple teaching media for the purposes of teaching, especially the two-dimensional media or graphic media, three-dimensional media, and projections media. Third, knowledge and skills in assessing the effectiveness of the use of media in the teaching process.

Comic Strips as an English Teaching Media

The use of comics with color illustrations, the story and the realistic and interesting characters can motivate students of all age levels (Sudjana and Rival, 2009: 69). Short utterances in English can be translated by forward translation or as an idiom. Comic strips can be used as a vocabulary teaching media which is an essential component of a language, especially a foreign language is rarely used outside of the classroom by Junior High School students.

Vocabulary as a Language Component of English

Teaching vocabulary is now being ignored by many teachers due to the four English skills. Many teachers think that four English skills namely listening, speaking, reading, writing is the most important in teaching English. In fact, many students have lack of vocabulary that make them difficult in mastering English. So, the teachers have to find the appropriate technique or media in teaching English. In this case, the teachers can use comic strips as a media for the students. Comic strips have more complete component than relia and flash card because comic strips consist of simple story and complete expression.

Methodology of the Research

This research belongs to classroom action research. According to Gregory, Kemmis, and McTaggart (in Richard, 2000: 12) classroom action research is the research which is done to investigate whether the teachers use the appropriate teaching method and improve the students’ achievement. In addition, Bogdan and Biklen (in Burns, 1999: 30) classroom action research is the order of information which is systematic to make the social changes.

There are some steps in the action research as follow:

1. Planning: is the process of developing a critical analysis of the information received
2. Action: is the process for taking action to implement the plan
3. Observation: is the process of observation of the impact of information critically to the contexts of the research targets
4. Reflection: is the process of reflection towards the impact that occur in the future

The diagram of classroom action research can be explained below:

Subject of the Research

The subjects of this research is the students of class VII A SMP 2 Bae Kudus consisting of 30 students. The researchers chose VII class A due consideration several reasons for students of class VII A has almost the same of the English skills. Cycle II

The second cycle was held on Wednesday and Monday, 25 & 30 September 2013. This activity was attended by 29 students of class VII A of SMP 2 Bae Kudus because 1 student did not attend the class. The Effectiveness of Learning English by Using Printed Material Comic Strips

The notes of the observations that have been conducted by the writers in each research cycle, both in the first cycle and second cycle, may indicate that the comic strips can be applied as an effective media of learning English. Observation research includes teacher-led learning process through the material flow and measures of teaching and student responses in each cycle. The following description of the results of observations of the writers from two cycles of Classroom Action Research (CAR), which has been done in class VII A of SMP 2 Bae Kudus.

Observation of Cycle I
Teacher’s Response

The teacher seems very enthusiastic and interested in the research when the researcher asks her to be the collaborator in this Classroom Action Research. It can be notified that the teacher finds the content and materials in comic strips is fitted with the learning materials in the beginning of the odd semester grade VII of Junior High School. Greeting and Introduction are the materials delivered unconsciously can add the students’ vocabulary.

In this step, teacher uses the lesson plan prepared by the researcher. The lesson plan provides the consideration and explanation about the materials, plot, and the steps of teaching using the teaching media of comic strips.

When the teacher delivers the materials in front of the class, she gets an easy point in relating the comic strips as the teaching media with the vocabularies that are commonly used in greeting and introduction. The students’ attention is mostly addressed to the story of comic strips and the teachers’ explanation improves the effective method used to deliver the materials. The class is also managed well and focused. Teacher explains orderly based on the story in comic and students keep listening to her.

Teacher does not translate or interpret immediately the expressions in the comic strips, but she asks the students to do a brainstorming about the graphic design and also the expressions of the comic. Using that method can help the teacher in providing the description to the students through the story of the comic. The students worksheet provided by school only provides dialogues as the examples of using expression without concrete pictures to improve students’ imagination like comic.
The teacher also can easily ask the students to describe the situation and condition in the story of comic strips. Pictures or characters in the comic can explore the students’ vocabularies and improve them more besides mentioned in the expressions of the comic. The students are asked to list the difficult words and immediately translate the difficult words. The teacher controls the process of students’ translating activity, so there will be no misunderstanding.

Students’ Response

In cycle I, when each of the students get the comic, they seem so enthusiastic. The researcher describes this thing based on the observation done through the process of cycle I. Most of the students open the comic and read it immediately when they hand the comic. It proves that comic is still effective to attract students’ motivation of reading, especially for young learners. If the students are interested with the learning media at the first time, the next process of teaching and learning will run smoothly and make a good output.

The interesting English teaching method is recommended for teachers to attract the students to learn the International Language. It will not be a scary lesson anymore for the students who do not like to learn language in the classroom.

The students enthusiastically write the difficult words and check the translation in the dictionary. It can show that the students’ vocabularies can stay longer in their mind. Because they do not feel that they are forced to learn and find the translation in the dictionary. Unconsciously, the students know and apply the vocabularies in the expressions used by the characters in the comic.

Observation of Cycle II

This cycle is the next step of the research to complete the previous cycle I. Teacher successfully leads the students to understand and apply the expressions used by the characters in the comic strips. They also practice the dialogue in front of the class. Based on the evaluation, the researcher expects a significant result to prove the effect of comic strips as teaching media from the pre-test and evaluation of cycle I. Before conducting it, students are expected to respond the questions of evaluation test with short answers and correct in English. After that, the students are expected to respond the questions with complete answers to improve their vocabularies. The description of the observation of the researcher from the students’ and teacher’s responses are as follows:

Teacher’s Response

As well as cycle I, teacher does not find any difficulty when she delivers the materials in front of the class. The teacher uses the lesson plan prepared by the researcher. There is an improvement of the treatment in cycle II, it is the teacher asks the students to do a role-play of the characters in the comic. This step shows that the teacher needs to apply method of drilling so that the students can understand more and do the instruction well.

Teacher randomly asks questions to students using the expression in the comic. After it seems enough to ask questions, teacher chooses some students to give an example of how to do a role-play in front of the class. After this activity is conducted, the teacher controls the students performance in front of the class.

Students can learn by their own in learning the content of the comic. They also practice the dialogues with their classmates. When they are asked to perform the role-play, they are able to do it without bringing any text. Students have courage and motivation by raising their hands to perform in front of the class.

Drilling is conducted by the teacher and the students are lead to answer the questions completely. Students’ responses are great because they can answer the questions faster than before with correct pronunciation and structure. The students are also happy in trying to practice the dialogues in the comic without any further instruction from the teacher.
